Mexico: Students have called a nationwide student strike as a result of the government's failure so far to respond to a series of grievances. Students in the capital are planning a mass demonstration today, and are reportedly planning to use violence against nonstriking schools, unfriendly individuals, and certain embassies. The Diaz Ordaz administration is particularly concerned over reports the demonstration is to be led by families whose children allegedly were killed during the riots last month, an emotional issue the administration had hoped to avoid.
